MOZART HALL-The Marsh Children in the Naiad Queen. MECHANICS' INSTITUTE-Corner Fourth and Broadway; open every evening.

The Southwestern Fair. We understand that entries will be pouring in all day to-day, just as the people of the city ought to be pouring out all day to-morrow. The pros pect is that the exhibition will be a large and superb one in every respect, and the attendance and liberality of the citizens of Louisville and all the surrounding country ought to correspond with it. Whenever such provision has been made, as has been in the present case, with reference to a great public interest, nothing like a "beggarly account of empty boxes" should be witnessed during a ingle day. The Amphitheater, Floral Hall, the Cottage, the shaded grounds, the whole area in the vicinity of Power Hall that may be covered by agricultural machinery and the smaller farm mplements should be alive with people. Look at the premium lists again, and see what the intelligence and liberality of the Southwestern Directory has prepared for the public entertainment. The first division covers stock, to be shown in the Amphitheater, and in pairs. This embraces thorough-bred cattle, milch-stock, fat cattle-long, middle, and fine wooled sheep, with fat sheep-hogs of the different classes-thorough bred horses, fine horses, saddle horses, horses of any age under saddle, harness horses, double teams, draft horses, and trotting horses to move against time, together with jacks, jennets, and nules :- making no less than seventy-three rings of horses, eighteen of jack-stock, and forty of cattle, sheep and hogs! And throughout all this division, most liberal premiums abound.

Then comes the second division, consisting almost wholly of articles to be displayed in and near Power Hall. This embraces steam engines, farm engines, horse powers, wind mills, shingle machines, hemp breaks, reapers and mowers, threshing machines, screw-cutters, mills and presses, plows, sundry of the smaller farm implenents, with iron castings, steel tools, carriages, harness, &c., &c .- making no less than sixty-six classes of different articles, most of them having a direct bearing upon the industrial pursuits of ornamental vases, in the midst of an ornamental display of flowers and plants of all kinds, so placed in the design as to form a grand and elegant tab leaux, such as has not hitherto been attempted at leard any account.

The recent rains have given the fair grounds a uperb carpeting of green. This adds much to city. The Cottage (or ladies' reception house) has been repaired and much beautified, as well as supplied with conveniences hitherto greatly needed Power Hall has undergone renovation, and the Amphitheater been much improved in several respects. To which may be added the fact, with eference to the trial of trotters against time, that ow, for the first, a track has been provided which will at once become the favorite place of all with

The railroad arrangements are such as will permit visitors to reach the fair grounds with the ut pressed for time, the morning may be spent at the Agricultural Exhibition, and the sports of the race course, may be witnessed by those who desire in a single day. We have been requested to say that entries for the fair, in all but stock rings, may be made with the Secretary, to-day, by calling at the seed and agricultural store of Messrs. Peter & Buchana an, on the north side of Main street between Fourth

OUR FALL TRADE .- The Fall trade is opening with cheering symptoms of an unusual activity. Main street is animate with bustle, and plethoric of visitors, boxes and draymen. The generous elements have opened their fountains and permitted a genial and wide-spread gush, which has restored freshness and vigor, a magic greenness, and a full yield to the districts. An ample harvest attests the bounty of many rains, and fills the heart of the yeoman with gladness, his granary with wheat, his eye with humor, and his purse with gold. City and country, like the American Union, are one and inseparable-commerce and vegatation The smile of the farmer is answered by the laugh of the merchant, and the whole by a radiant splen. dor from women, who test the ingenvity of machines and the taste of courts, to fold her in satins and silks and diamonds. The "good old time," in the language of the "Lounger," is full upon us, and Fourth street is in its glow. Fourth, by an inexorable decree, is destined to remain the famous street of the city.

We are led to make these ramblings from having stepped a moment, while passing, into the louse of our friends, Messrs. GUTHRIB BROTHERS, witnessed the evidence of their progress and thrift. We feel a duty in testifying, by the way, to the high moral worth of the gentlemen of this firm, their civility, their wondrous enterprise and spotless integrity. Their future is inviting and bright with promise, and a long prosperity and success their sure reward.

This is the glorious concourse of female lovliness which floats through the avenues of the building every evening. A Correction.-We published some days since rumor that there was much excitement in Madison, Ind., as to the alleged defalcation of Mr. R Jones, an agent of the Madison and Indianapolis Railroad Company. The intelligence was imparted to one of our reporters on the mail boat by what was then considered good authority. But a personal interview with Mr. Jones, and the exination of documents, besides other evidence, satisfies us that the report was untrue, and its currency has done him great injustice. It, there fore, affords us pleasure to correct the statement and in this connection, to publish the subjoined

[For the Louisville Courier.] Louisville Courier: Upon my return Editors Louisville Courier: Upon my retain home, last evening, from Chicago, I was surprised to read in your paper of the 14th inst., an article headed "Large Defalcation-Flight of the Defaulter," in which it is stated that R. unds bolonging to said road. I deem it but justice to Mr. Jones, to make the blowing statement of the facts: Mr. Jones, upn my invitation, left this city on the morning of the 12th inst., by railroad, for Chicago. He had agreed almost a week before to accompany me, and the fact that we were to leave on that mornng was known to numerous individuals here for days before. On the same train with us, when eaving here, was the President, Superintendent, Attorney and one of the Directors of the road, in whose employ Mr. Jones had been engaged up to the 10th inst. All of these gentlemen recognized the presence of Mr. Jones on the cars, and the last named one of them was in our company du-ring the greater part of the time we were absent. Mr. Jones returned here last evening and is the bearer of this to your city. Very respectfully, R. S. McKEE.

SALE OF COUNTRY SEATS -For some days past large sale of Country Seats upon the L. & N. railroad has been advertised in our columns. The sale comes off to-morrow, and those who want to buy must be ready to take the morning train on the Nashville road.

The lots to be sold are located on the Nashville ailroad, about eleven miles from Louisville. Their ituation is beautiful. Thirty-three lots, varying They embrace level and hilly grounds, so as to suit the taste of every purchaser. The buyer can select a site on which his house will be considerably up into the clouds, or upon a level with the ailroad line.

There is no better location for convenience ealth, &c. A citizen of Louisville would live many years longer by buying one of these lots, erecting a summer house upon it, and dwelling there during the heated months. He could have the finest fruits, for it is known that the Bullitt hills produce peaches, apples, &c., when other orchards fail : and then, too, he could raise his own wine, for the soil of these lots are particularly adapted to the growth of the grape. And while e was enjoying his nice country home, affording im health and happiness, he would be in half an hour of his city business by railroad. We hope the sale of lots may be brisk, and that one will be left unsold. Now is as good a time as our citizens will ever have to inaugurate the ountry seat fashion on the L. & N. railroad. No better opportunity will be offered, and the example once set, longer life and more happiness will be secured to our men, women and children.

For some time past, a man calling himself Shields, has been edvertising that on Friday of this week, the 16th inst., he would perform a wonderful exploit at Niagara Falls, by jumping from a hight of 90 feet into the river, below the cata-ract. For this purpose he proposed to erect a scaffold on the American side, not far from the place where Blondin's rope was suspended, and make a leap from its summit. But "man propo-ses and God disposes." The fool-hardy adventurer has met with an untimely death. Yesterday afternoon he, in company with a young man named Andrew Franck, went in a beat to the to the middle of the river to ascertain the strength and direction of the currents that prevail, and had proceeded some distance when he was caught in a whirlpool from which he could not extricate himself. He called for Franck to bring the boat,

The Union of last evening asserts that his real name was O'Connor, and that he resided on Yought street in this city, but it is said that his name appears on the Regis-ter of the Franklin House at the Falls as O'Connell. Another statement is that his name was Shehan, and that he belonged in Lockport, where he has a brother residing. The authorities at the Falls have taken possession of the effects of the deceased, and hold them subject to the call of his friends. They consist of two suits of clothes and forty cents in money.

Street Railroads. Street Railroads.

Editors Louisville Courier: Two parties—two distinct and hitherto hostile interests—have combined to oppose and defeat the effort to give this city the benefit of street railroads. These parties are the Portland Railroad Company (Henderson, Hornsby & Co.), and the old fogues of the city. The old fog wing of this coalition are opposed to the roads in any event and in any shope. Henderson, Herosby & Co., oppose any ordinance, any grant, unless it be to them.

and now they are againt street railroads. Shall these men and their opinions succeed? Shall this growing city be manacled, tied down, hand and foot, because the old fogles and the Portland road are not satisfied? Are the active, energetic men of this city, those who have made it what it is, in spite of old fogies, and who would yet further extend its trade, its limits, and its population, are these men and their wishes to be disregarded at the demand of a few old fogies in coalition with such a concern as the Portland wilked? what are the claims of this road on the city of its people? The managers of this concern, through their organ, cry out, injustice!! injustice!!! injustice!!! Where is the injustice, and when did this concern become a friend of justice? Where was its feeling of justice when they issued, upon all who were silly enough to take it, $120,000 of stock, and $100,000 of bonds upon three miles of street railroads? Where was their justice then?

But they say if the council give this great its But they say if the council give this grant, it will be a monopoly." Are not all grants, all corporations monopolies in the same sense and to the same extent? Have not these gentlemen, Henderson, Hornsby & Co., who now cry out so lustily against monopolies, a monopoly themselves? Have they not a monopoly now, and have they not had it for years? And for this, what do they pay the city? Nothing, absolutely nothing. In the col-

city? Nothing, absolutely nothing. In the col-umns of their organ of Saturday, I found the following paragraph:
"City vs. Portland Railroad Company, four ordinance warrants for running their omnibuses without license."
Here we have it. The Portland railroad refus-

Here we have it. The Portland reilroad refusing to pay the city a trifling tax on their omnibuses, and bellowing through their organ against a grant like theirs, which will pay the city thousands of dollars annually. But these managers claim, because they have had a monopoly for years, that that monopoly should be continued forever. Here's logic for you. They insist that they have rights which should be protected; what are their rights? They have the chartered right to carry freight and passeng rs on their road, and that's all. The Louisville Hotel Co. and the Galt House Co. have the same chartered rights to entertain guests, and it would be quite as reato entertain guests, and it would be quite as rea sonable in the stock holders in these concerns to cry out "injustice!" and claim protection against a charter for another hotel. Yet, if this were done, they would be hissed out of the city, (and justly, too). But they say, "why not open this matter to the highest bidder?" The reason why it should not be opened to the highest, is, that if this were done. Handersen Hownth to the constitution of the control of done, Handerson, Hornsby & Co. would certainly overbid everybody else and obtain it, and thus we should be saddled with the Portland rubroad extended all over the city! We would have a good time then. Such cars, such horses, such civilities, and the inevitable, interminable Dennisl saddled on the city forever. If this is not a good received for the city forever. on the city forever. If this is not a good reason, a sound, satisfactory and controlling reason why the grant should not be put up at auction, I don't know what a good and satisfactory reason is. The people of this city want street railroads, and want them badly; but they would a thousand times rather give them up than to be saddled with the Portgive them up than to be saddled with the Port-land road extended over the city. It is right and proper that the grantees should pay a fair tax to the city. It is right and proper that the rights and interests of the city should be thoroughly pro-tected and guarded; but it is not desirable that an nerous and oppressive tax should be imposed. If this be done, the chief object and advantage of the road will be defeated. We should then have a mean road, mean cars, mean horses, mean conductors, mean everything. With a fair and not oppressive tax we shall have a good road, fine cars, fine teams, gentlemanly conductors and general comfort. A MAIN STREET TAX PAYER.

LOUISVILLE:

MONDAY, ... SEPTEMBER 19, 1859. Reading Matter on Every Page.

Theeditor of the Lexington Statesman has again renewed the assault upon this paper, and with barely an allusion to our charges of inconsistency against himself, has accused us of endeav. oring to create the impression from a "detached sentence" from an article in the Statesman, that he dissented from the position of Mr. Magoffin .-We disavow any intention to do the editor of the Statesman injustice, and, if he will furnish the article from which the "detached sentence" was taken, we will publish it entire, and let it speak for itself.

But, whilst complaining of us for attempting to hold up a "detached sentence" from his paper to place him in a false position, would it not have evidenced a sincerity of the accusation on the part of the editor of the Statesman, not to have pursued the course towards us, which he has himself condemned by publishing "detached sentences" from our editorials. If he considers that he may justly complain against us for such quotations, surely we can complain of him with equal propriety.

period of the discussion. The position of Mr. Magotfin, at Lebanon, is correctly stated in the following extract from the report of his speech in ot men. the Courier:

"He believed that the right to hold slaves in the Territories was a constitutional right, and that Congress possessed the right to PROTECT IT; but that he considered the exercise of that power impolitic. He was for non-intervention. To show how we regarded this exposition of the views of Mr. Magoffin, and precisely how far we

Mr. Magoffin was logically compelled to go, we will appeared in the Courier a short time after the delivery of the Lebanon speech : "He [Mr. Magoffin] goes further. He holds that Congress has the power to protect slavery in the Territories. This position leads logically and inevitably to protection, or it amounts to nothing What answer can Congress give to the holder of slave property if he should come up and say Congress, the Territorial Legislature, your agent your creature, will not protect my property, m rights, my interests. I demand of you to do it! What shall Congress reply? Shall it tell him there is no remedy? that the squatters are sover eign? or shall it say we possess the power but will not exercise it? Admitting the power of Congress to protect slavery, Mr. Magoffin must carry that admission to its legitimate conclusion, and that conclusion eventuates in protection.

Here, then, we make out a case in which we considered it would be right and proper for Con. gress to pass laws to protect slave property. The article from which we quote, was one of the earliest published in our paper, having appeared April 25th, and showed that at that time we wer not in favor of the immediate enactment of a "slave code," but on the contrary fixed the time for the adoption of protective laws at the period when, to use the language of the extract. "The Territory will not protect our property, our rights, our interests." Here, then, in one of the very first articles we wrote, we shadowed forth the doctrine of protection whenever a Territorial Legislature refused to pass laws to protect it, or in other words, to protect slave property when the necessity should arise

But in order that there may be no misapprehen-But in order that there may be no misapprehension whatever of our views on this question, we NEW AND LARGE FALL make the following extract from an article which we published on the 30th of April, which meets the very case in point. Here it is :

"Taking the view that Mr. Douglas does, [that it did not matter what way the Courts might de cide we think that Congress would be recreant to its duty, recreant to the Constitution of the country, if it should, WHEN THE OCCASION MAY ARISE, hesitate for a moment to pass protective

So we argued in the Courier of April the 30th before the article appeared from which the States man has extracted its "detached sentences." We now hold to the doctrine that Congress shall pro tect slave property in the Territories "when the occasion may arise," and stand to-day by the precise principle we advocated in our issue of the 30th of April.

It will be borne in mind that the article in the Statesman is chiefly devoted to showing up our inconsistency, and this inconsistency consists mainly in the fact that we have been driven from our advocacy of an immediate adoption of a slave code, and are willing to wait for its enactment until "a necessity shall arise."

To prove that we have changed our position the Statesman quotes a "detached sentence from an article which appeared in this paper, in its issue of May 2d, In order to place ourself right, it is necessary for us to quote one or two extracts from the very article from which the Statesman has made the extract, which it parades to show forth our inconsistency. In speaking of Mr. Magoffin's position, we said:

"He holds that slavery exists in the Territories; "He holds that slavery exists in the Territories; that its existence there is recognized, like that of any other property, by the Constitution; that Congress has the power to protect slavery in the Territories, and that it is the duty of Congress to grant adequate protection in accordance with the Constitution, and its interpretation by the highest authority in the land, the Supreme Court of the United States, a co-ordinate department of the Government and the official interpretars of the overnment and the official interpreter of the

"He utterly repudiates squatter sovereignty, and holds that a Territorial Legislature has no power to abolish slavery during the Territorial state; that it has no power to pass laws unfriendstate; that it has no power to pass laws unfriendly to slavery, and that it is its duty to protect slavery in the Territorial state. He does not think that the people of a Territory have any power or right to legislate against slavery during the Territorial state, and that they can only exercise this power when they form a Constitution preparatory to admission into the Union as a sovereign State."

"Up to this point WE AGREE WITH MR. MAGOFFIN IN EVERY PARTICULAR. This MAGOFFIN IN EVERY PARTICULAR. This position is the only one that can be maintained in Kentucky. When, however, Mr. Magoffin developes fully his idea of Congressional protection, and says what it is that he wants, we disagree with him. Our disagreement, however, is only as to the mode and measure, and the time of Congressional action. WE AGREE AS TO THE PRINCIPLE, and disagree only in opinion as to the mode and quantity of protection that springs from that fundamental principle, against which no politician in Kentucky can contend and live."

The above shows clearly the points of agree ment and disagreement between the position of Mr. Magoffin and ourself on the question of protection. We stood together on the same great essential principle, but differed as to its application-We differed as to the carrying out of the principle, but no further. Mr. Magoffin thought that the protection that could be afforded by the Federal Courts and Fugitive Slave Law was sufficient-we differed with him on this point. But this difference involves no principle. So far as the protection of the Fugitive Slave Law is concerned, we presume that no one will now pretend to contend that it affords adequate protection to slave property held in Territories. The truth is, it is no protection at all to such property. It would, it is true, enable a slave owner to reclaim a fugitive slave from Kansas, but it would certainly not protect a resident of Kansas in his slave. We also said that we did not believe that the Courts established by Congress in the Territories, could afford adequate protection to slave property even at this time. We still hold to that trine. The Courts do not make laws, but adjudicate upon laws already made, and if a Territorial Legislature, by non-action fails to protect slave property, we do not see how the Courts can

But how can the Statesman have the temerity to assail us for differing with Mr. Magoffin in the application of a principle, when the editor of that paper differed from Mr. Magoffin on the correctness the principle itself. Concede the correctness of the original position of the Statesman on in this question, and every doctrine of Mr. Magoffin osition of the Statesman, which we have already while her the statesman, which we have already while her the statesman and Figure 1988 and Figure 1988 at 1988 and Figure 1988 at 1988 is wrong and suicidal to the South. Here is the published, but which is quite pertinent to the 819 present discussion:

"Congressional legislation in protection of Slavery in the Territories, irresistibly carries with it the power to legislate for its exclusion. THE DUTY OR RIGHT OF CONGRESS TO PROTECT CANNOT BE MAINTAINED WITHOUT ADMITTING THE POWER TO ABOLISH. If Congress can intervene fer one purpose, it can for another. The South cannot assert a principle

DAILY COURIER and expect to reap only its advantages. We must

Such was the alarming doctrine of the editor of the Statesman at the commencement of the recent LOUISVILLE COURIER PRINTING COMPANY, canvass. Is there in it a single idea that Mr. Magoffin now indorses, or ever did indorse? Is it not in the very teeth of every declaration made by him on every stump in the State?

According to the Statesman's position, Mr. Magoffin, when he conceded the right to Congress to legislate for the protection, yielded also the right to Congress to legislate for its exclusion; but Mr. Magoffin has conceded that right to Congress, therefore, according to the Statesman, he ha yielded to Congress the right to exclude slavery. But notwithstanding this vast difference between the Statesman and Mr. Magoffin, still the Statesman arrogates to itself to be his especial champion, and the especial advocate of his views on the protection of slavery in the Territories. We tell the editor of the Statesman that we have never differed half as widely from Mr. Magoffin as he has done in the extract which we have quoted from his paper. Our difference with Magoffin never involved a great principle. The doctrine of the Statesman did involve such a principle .-Has the editor of the Statesman ever reflected on the vital error underlying his first arguments on this question? Has he ever considered that, carried out to their logical conclusions, they eventuate in unadulterated Black Republicanism? With such a record as this, so irreconcilably opposed to the views of Gov. Magoffin, how can the Statesman assail us for our failure to agree with him in the mere application of a principle?

ANALGAMATION .- The following statement of the Detroit Free Press, though undoubtedly true, is hard to believe, because it comes from a section of country whence the finger of virtuous scorn has eat and wear with ease and comfort. Please call been so often pointed towards the South:

The extent to which amalgamation is carried in We desire that the points in controversy between the Statesman and ourself shall be clearly understood, and in order that they may be so understood, it will be necessary for us to allude, briefly, to the questions which arose at an early precise of the discussion. The extent to which amalgamation is carried in this city is really beyond the knowledge of nine-tenths of the inhabitants. There are hundreds of families, the parents of which are of opposite colors, and although the marriage of whites and blacks is illegal and void, yet they live together and bear children. It is a remarkable fact, that out of all this number, no instance axists where out of all this number, no instance exists where a white man lives with a black woman. They are all white women, and generally the blackest kind of men. Whether philosophers would argue a superior degree of depravity in the amiable sex from this state of facts or not, we are unable to say—should think they would be unable to avoid it. The same condition of affairs prevails on the other side of the river, to the intense digust, we are happy to add, of all good and loyal Canadians.

"Don't Stand on the Platform."-Such is the notice usually stuck up on the platforms of railwent for protection, and how far we contended road cars. It seems that railway coach platforms are not the only platforms that are dangerous .quote the following extract from an article which | The following incident which occurred while old Sam Houston was addressing a large audience in Nacogdoches, is an illustration of this truth:

Houston-"I have told you that platforms. when they are used to blind people to the designs of men, are dangerous." [Here a part of the sta-ging erected for the audience, fell down, bringing number of the sovereigns to the ground.] Hous on resuming—"There! did I not tell you plat forms were dangerous?"

A WORD TO THE WISE .- The people are aware that D. O'Hare, No. 427 Main street, is the oldest, largest, and most experienced manufacturer of trunks and similar articles in the city. They should avail themselves of the rare opportunities afforded by Mr. O'Hare. To the country and city merchants he offers peculiar advantages in his wholesale department, while in the retail line he cannot be equalled. Whoever wants to travel, whether with a small carpet bag or a mammoth trunk, need go no further than the great Western factory of Mr. O'Hare. His manufactory is a credit to Louisville, and should meet with extensive patronage. As a matter of home p .de, and to subserve economy, purchasers will consult their best interest in purchasing of Mr. DeO'Hare. Remember, that the United States Prize Medal was awarded to D. O'Hare for the best trunks made. Vulcanite Base for Artificial Teeth has been thoroughly tested and used in Eastern cities for the last four years, and proved, beyond a doubt, to be the best substitute ever used as a base for sets of teeth.

It possesses the following advantages over me talic plates : It is not more than half the weight of metal, is indestructible and perfectly cleanly .-The absolute certainty of fitting the mouth renders the old form of plate unnecessary, doing away with more than half the width, getting a better fit, and not at all impairing the taste, as is the case where the whole of the mouth is covered with a plate .-Its extreme lightness renders it particularly adapted to filling out sunken portions of the face. To those who are wearing sets that they cannot eat with, we would say that if they will give us a trial we will guarantee them teeth with which they can at our office on Fifth street, next door to the Cathedral, and examine specimens.

All other dental operatious carefully performed. sep6dly FITTZ & FULTON.

VESPER GAS. OR AIR LIGHT! A PORTABLE GAS LIGHT FOR EVERY ONE IN TOWN OR COUNTRY, AND CHEAPER THAN ANY OTHER KNOWN—CAN BE MANAGED BY

EVERY ONE, AND USED WHEREVER ARTIFICIAL LIGHT IS REQUIRED. Its portability, cheapness, brilliancy, safety, and simplicity are causing it to supersede every thing else where its merits have been fully tried The best widence of its great superiority over all other methods for purposes of illumination is that the proprietor hereby gu rantees satisfaction in all cases, and pledges himself to refund the price paid in case the person is not entirely satisfied. He solicits the patronage of the public on these terms. Circulars and Price List, with Testimonials in great number from the most prominent men throughout the State, can be had on application.

No. 6 Masonic Temple. W. H. SETTLE.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 5, 1859. LOUSVILLE, KY., Sept. 0, 1809.

W. H. Settle—Dear Sir: After having made a thorough examination of it e "Vesper Gas," in relation to its illuminating power, chem cal composition, &c., I do not hesitate to recommend it as being safer and more economical as well as possessing greater intensity or illumination han any other material now in use. In the laboratory it is superior to the alcohol as a means of obtaining heat, and will be found of invaluable service to the druggist as well as to the manufacturing chemist CHAS. W. WRIGHT, M. D.,

Prof. of Chemistry in the Ky. School of Medicine.

LOUISVILLE, Aug. 20, 1859. W. H. Settle. Esq.: It gives me great pleasure to state that after a trial of one of the "Vesper Gas Lamps" in my study for six weeks past, and after observing closely for the same length of time the experiment of lighting our 'Union Tent' with these lamps, I have entire confidered in their efficiency. It seems to me that they afford all the advantages of the best gas lights to those who live out of the cities and large towns.

The process of preparing and lighting the lamp is so readily learned, the fixtures are so simple and so little liable to get out of order, the cost of the light comparatively so little, and it e whole so free from all danger, that it needs only mere acquaintance on the part of the public with the Vesper Gas Lamp to bring them into general use throughout the coury.

STUART ROBINSON.

FAIRVIEW, Near Louisville, Sept., 1859. The "Vesper Gas" makes a brilliant and beautiful light is cheap and portable and perfectly safe.

thave used it in my country dwelling house for several months past, and, af era fair trial, I prefer it to any other mode of illumination that can be obtained utside of the gas limits of the city.

The construction of the "Vesper Gas" burner and report is so perfectly simple that it cannot get out of oreer, nor can it explode. The management of the burners is easily understood, nd they require bat little more attention to keep clean ad in good order than ordinary gas fixtures. The oth produced by the "Vesper Gas" I consider fully equal in every respect to any other kind of gas light.

THOS. S. KENNEDY. Louisvilly, August 19, 1859. W. H. Settle-Dear Sir: Feeling the necessity of hav ing good light, I have, during several years past, tested and used quite a number and variety of lamps, among others the Vesper. This Lampis entirely free from danger by explosion, simple in its machinery, and gives at a moderate cos a mild but very bright light, and, in my nion, is greatly superior to any other style of lamps
w in use in the West. Respectfully,

THE RIVER is slowly falling, at all points, with two feet 3½ inches water in the canal, last even-ing, by the mark. During the previous 48 hours ater had receded one inch and a half at the head of the tails, which was four inches at Portland. That was considerable of a decline on the present low stage of water—the lowest we have yet had this season. The weather has been very warm, and at times uncomfortably so, and quite sultry and close last evening, indicating rain.

The neekets have been destined during the past The packets have been detained during the past four days by fogs, as well as sand bars. The mail boat Clipper, due at daylight yesterday morning, boat Cupper, due at daying it yesterday morning, did not arrive till in the evening. She reports 6 or 8 hours detention by fog and at Warsaw. The Progress, bound South, was hard aground on Warsaw bar when the Clipper left that place, which was rather slow progress to port.

The Hazel Dell found but three feet water on the shoalest bars, which confirms our report of Saturday. She reports the following boats aground: R. F. Sass, Silver Star, Medora, W. V. Gillum, Anglo-Saxon, Admiral and E. A. Ogden. The J. H. Done was above Scuffletown alongside of a sunken barge.

MAIL PACKET FOR CAIRO .- The Hazel Dell is the regular low water mail and passenger packet for Cairo and Mewphis this evening. She starts at 5 o'clock, from Portland, providing comfortably for passengers, with plenty of room for freight. She takes freight and passengers for Memphis, with Capt. Rees in command, and Mr. Richardson in coast packet to-day for every landing between Portland and Leavenworth. THE GENL. PIKE-FOR MEMPHIS AND WHITE RIVE

-The famous General Pike, now in thorough repair, and in the most complete order possible, starts direct to Memphis and White river to-morrow, Tuesday the 20th. She is of unusual light draught, with a very neat cabin, and being a side wheel boat, will be the most desirable for passengers. Capt. Riley Jones, her commander, is an experienced and very attentive boatman, and will take every care of passengers and freight. The clerk is our clever friend, Pete Fleming, of this city, a popular boatman. We made a visit to the city, a popular boatman. We made a visit to the Pike yesterday, and found her cabins all bright and new, with a thorough new outlit, and the boat overhauled from stem to stern, looking better and righter than ever.
The General Pike takes through freights for

She is the regu-lar Memphis and White river packet, and hereafter will ply regularly in that trade, leaving Memphis every Saturday evening, connecting with the Monday and Wednesday packets from this port. DUSAND PEOPLE IN ATTENDANCE .- Saturday evening, according to announcement, the Great At-lautic, Capt. A. McGill's new boat, for the New Orleans trade, was most successfully and beauti-fully launched at Jeffersonville, by Sam King, the builder. At 25 minutes past four, the order to "cut away" was given, and on the instant the lashings of the ways were cut by bright deaming nings of the ways were cut by bright, gleaming broadaxes upheared, which at a single downward stroke, given with the will and skill of stout, vig-prous men, parted the lashings, and she bounded forth like a meteor, gliding into the river with the velocity of a locomotive at full speed, amid the enhusiastic shouts of over two thousand delighted spectators. Everything was managed in the most orderly and thorouga manner, and not the most trivial mishaps or accidents occurred to

The friends of Capt. McGill turned out in force, and well may be feel proud of the encouragement to his enterprise, as evidenced by the assembling of so many beautiful women and brave men to see the launch. The shores and the boats in port were lined with spectators, and between four and five hundred persons, including a large number of ladies, were on the boat when she was launched, and never have we seen a brighter or mor beautiful scene, or a larger concourse of delighted people. The Atlantic has commenced her career under the brightest auspices, and as she progresses to completion will grow upon the good wishes and pride of our citizens until she rides forth the queen of the "inland seas"—a perfect pecimen and the bright exampler of the work of time Sam King had the last wedge driven, and the word cut was given, before the stern of the Atlantic had touched the Kentucky shore. She had glided from the stocks on the Indiana shore and crossed the river to the Kentucky shore, or rather the island, all in less than three minutes. She was launched stern foremost, and as she struck the river the water was dashed over her in one broad sheet of spray, that entirely enveloped the after part of the boat—portions of the wave exanchor was dropped over board to check her up, or else she might have cut the island in two. After the anchor was tripped, the towboat Pink Varble came along side and towed her to the lower wharf, where the machinery goes on board. Her draft of water, as she now lies at the wharf with the cabin up, and wheel was t the wharf, with the cabin up and wheel arms on board, is exactly two feet seven inches at the pow and two feet ten inches at the stern, and her uilders are confident that with all her machine up, and wood and water on, ready for a trip, she will raw less than four feet water. That with her sharp model, and capacity for over 1200 tons, ner snarp model, and capacity for over 1200 tons, is hard to beat, and so is Sam hing, the builder.

As an accompaniment to the lauuch, Capt. McGill had a dozen baskets of champagne, as well as other wines and liquors, together with a whole hetacomb of meat, bread, and crackers, all of which disappeared with a celerity truly marvellous. The brave Captain and his beautiful craft were enthusiastically toasted, and a beau of vonce. were enthusiastically toasted, and a bevy of young ladies on the boat, just as she touched the water, cracked a bottle of Schroeder's sparkling catawba to the health of the absent one—John L [Woolfolk, the gallant Clerk, now on duty on the Moses Mc-
